

Journey thought about things that made her feel happy.

Like her happy hands, humming her favorite tune, solving puzzles, and swinging back and forth. Maybe being different was not a bad thing after all.

